

THE REAL HERO

A. Hepsy Evangelin
M.A.,B.ED, M.Phil
English
Bangalore

Born crying out loud
With a glimpse of sighting
Unknown faces,
No prediction of
Who my parents are
Where am going to live
What are the achievements will I do
How my future will be
I found my life
Very thrilling on the day I was born.

Life started with joyful childhood
Time has come to instill knowledge
Leaving my mom for durations
In the name of going to SCHOOL
New places, new people

Life taught me various lessons.

Knowledge gained by institutions

Experience taught me

What life is

Society taught me

The good and the bad

People taught me how to survive

When innocent you are dumped

God taught me

Be good to others

Marriage taught me

God's creation of beautiful soul

Who lives for us forever

Children's taught me

How to reminiscence and

How to live like a child again.

Old age taught me

How to live a matured life

And teach our experiences for the beginners

But death who is the real hero
Asked me
What are the good things
You have done
So that even after your absence
Still you will be remembered
And asked me
For the good things I have done
When you are born you learn to live
When you die from you others learn.