

Is There Light?"

Pankaj Kapoor

H.no 2068, Sector 27/C,
Chandigarh.-160019.

Lie, Malice, Hatred, Jealousy, Hypocrisy are on the prowl
Where everyone has nothing to offer, but a hollow howl.
Victory is put to shame, lies have all the fame.
Relations are on the rot, World in the mad rampage is caught.
The Old banyan tree is having its last sighs.
The human race is bound with no ties.
Is this the world that the future will breathe, is this the light we all dream.
The dark world is going into the arena of ever darkness
The nakedness of lie is now fully garmented
Ornamented with malice it comes with silence, creeping into every house that has LIGHT.

Clouds

The morn was cold and had in it a bite
When up above they were having a fight.

The outcome was tears and plenty of tears
Those below had fear and just fears

They roared and full was the strife
It felt like the soul was cut with a knife.

I too felt to be one of them, who had that raw energy to get thunderous applause.
Wish it could quench the eternal thirst of one and all.