

Break the Silence of This Night

Priyanka Nain

Research Scholar at BPSMV
Khanpur Kalan, Sonapat.

Break the silence of this night
That stops me to say the right
I want to say that I never tried
Your heart is palace & you're knight
This is the only dream of my sight!

I am your rope and you, my kite
To meet me, you need not fight
“They” need to meet who fright
To go away from each other's sight
But our connection is solid and tight
You can fly to extremes of height
You will be my pride and I, your might
I am your rope and you are my kite
I have said that I never tried.

Now, hold my hand and hold it quite
Look into my eyes and make them alight
Don't say a word, let me see the white
Your eyes are saying that you denied
If you want to go then you have to hide
That I can see with my plight
Don't hide, don't lie, accept that is right
Say the truth and try to be upright
And break the silence of this night...

Let me Smile the Way I Want to

Let me smile the way I want to Let me live to the fullest, let me sink into
The eyes that look for me everywhere
The eyes that hide the affection and the care
The eyes that scare to have a contact
The eyes that always compel to distract
The heart from being attached or interact
Let me be the part of this very heart that pretend
To be hard and strict but actually is a blend
Of wax and stone, quinine and honey
Cool like moon and warm as sunny
Sometimes a scary soul, sometimes funny
Let me solve the enigma of this personage
So that heart can be freed from mind's cage

Let the fear vanish and let me face it
By telling the truth inside bit by bit
By confessing that my heart can never quit
Let my tears fall, let my soul shine
By freeing it from this burden of mine
By sitting beside you and holding hands of thine
Let my lips twitch, let my eyes tilt
The way that I can get the courage to admit
That the sun can stop warming and sending sunlit
But how can I stop seeing the dreams my eyes knit
That the earth can say "no" to the rotation in orbit
But how can I say "no" to the feelings heartthrobs lit
Let my tongue stumble, let my heart beat faster
So that nothing can remain in my heart to torture
So that the one soul in two can flare in order to Let me smile the way I want to, the way I want to...