

FORBIDDEN FRUITSHABIN

Love was that I experienced, but never realised
Care was that I received, but never satisfied
Joy was that I obtained, but never expressed
Missing was that I never expected, but experienced
Tears can't be shed, memories can't be revised
Beat of heart and warmth of breath can't be felt
Am I barren, empty, null, void,.....?
I wish I could feel the love a bit...
Love was that capricious fruit on a captivating tree
Which I was forbidden to taste and enjoy
But I stole an apple from someone's tree
Now I'm exiled, ever from the paradise of joy!
No more do I need love, no more do I've it in my soul
I loved with full heart and now I've nothing left
My destiny is fixed forever and beyond control
It's written unaltered, who am I to rewrite it?
Obvious was my fate, obscure my love
Obdurate was my heart, obstinate my act
I knew not you loved me, I won't let you leave
I fell in love with greed, but felt it not in the least
You lit the lamp of love in my dark life
You lead my way ahead secure and safe
I'm insane without your divine presence
I need you translate your love in my dreams
You sent me eternal love as if from heaven
I received that immortal happiness then
Your emotions were lovely and words fine
Long shall I remember those as true gain