

Poor Relations

Deepshikha Dixit
Ph.D Scholar
Rajasthan University
Jaipur

Poor relations keep standing and peeping out of the window,
Their shadow sometimes passing through this yellowish willow
The dark mouth of destiny waiting the time to swallow.
Walking along the countryside this destiny smiled and replied,
Race and struggle of each day but ending it on the same side.
Desperate wishes slow down like the wave at the shore,
My proud mocking at the door and the desire to have more.
Lonely walk of time often discover this world in confutation
Tired heart with more expectation a lot to hide but a thirst of confession.
Sometimes it seems black in the good morning sunny day,
The destination is clear but it is hard to get through this dreary way.

Message From A Beloved

I feel ur touch when I close my eyes,
I can Laugh with you even in my sighs.
My life is short for but the feelings are more,. Take my hand, walk through the end of this Shore.
Relation of this relation is too deeply related,
In hope of this hopping affection, some more to be escalated.
Jealous moon sometime peep out of this dark night,
To watch the two happy stars smiling together and shining at the height.
The whole night is the witness followed by the ting of breaking day,
Again the thoughts are more but the words are less to say...