I can't love you
I tell you it in the beginning
Because I don't want to cheat you
I have one beloved for whom I have lent my soul
At the cost of losing the beloved's love I don't want to love you Really you are one I cherished for
You are so pretty and 'behavioural'
I am not 'carnal' about you as you may guess
But I feel an ache at my heart for your cause
Even so, I withdraw from you
If you are curious about my beloved's specials
Then listen it:
My beloved loves me infinitely
Started from infinitely back
I am quite sure that my beloved would love me infinitely forward
People are afraid of love which is shaky
Our love is beyond skin, body and language

I detest the linguistic love
I want to be silent
We love eternally silent
There are people accuse me being arrogantly silent
It is because I don't want to vocalize when I love
My life is a poem in composition
Which I plan to dedicate for my beloved
I don't want lose my romantic ecstasy
With linguistic nullity
Before departing
Hey, dear, one word more
May, my beloved let me to love the one more
Still you are interested
I would walk back you with craze
Then you realize what real love is
But it is not sure
Now I walk far away from you
Because I don't want to cheat you
If you quickly trace my footsteps
You locate one or two tear-drips in front of each footstep.
